BYRD AND VOLZ EASY WINNERS

Elected Wheeling Town- ship Committeemen by Large Majorities

Albert F. Volz, was elected Republican committeeman in Wheeling township by 150 more votes than all of his opponents combined. Elmer Sachs, who made a special appeal to the young voters polled 192, while Herman Boeger (Caldwell) polled 155 and Utpadel (Small) polled 135.

A most phenomenal expression of confidence in his ability and loyalty was given to Homer J. Byrd by the citizens of Wheeling township in electing him as their district leader by an overwhelming majority which brought victory over George C. Olcese. Byrd polled 1114 votes to 514 of Olcese. Probably no committeeman contest in the northwest suburbs was more hotly contested than the Olcese-Byrd affair in Wheeling. Mr. Byrd's position as director of registration and education under Governor Horner and his management of the governor's campaign in the Cook county suburbs, aligned him with Horner to such an extent that it became a Horner-Bundesden contest.

Mr. Byrd stated, "I am deeply touched by the expression of trust and confidence given me by my fellow citizens and wish to take this opportunity of thanking my many friends for their effort in my behalf. I am conscious of the responsibility placed upon me and will in the future, as I have in the past, strive to the best of my ability to serve the interest of my fellow citizens. To me, their interest is a trust which I shall hold sacred."

Only 16 votes separated the totals of Mr. Byrd and his chief, Governor Horner, while Mr. Olcese polled 124 more votes than Dr. Bundesden, whose candidacy was strongly supported by Mr. Olcese.

In Palatine Roy LaLonde was elected Democratic committeeman over Geo. Meyer. Mr. LaLonde's understanding had the support of the Horner organization.

An Elk Grove, however, there was a different story. O. S. Johnson, supporter of Bundesden was elected over Herman Schwake, who was for Horner, although Horner carried that township by two to one.

In Schaumburg Frank Spierle, an employee of the state defeated Mr. Geistfeld by four votes.

Other townships which elected Horner committeemen are: New Trier, Thomas J. Lynch. Evanston Twp., Philip Tracey. Niles Twp., Kreer.

Barrington Twp., Howard Brintlinger. Hanover Twp., Krog. Emmet McGrath of the Bundesden camp was nominated for the legislature but was defeated by 100 votes for committeeman of Lyons township.

Mrs. Brynaldson was approached at the time she gave her concert a year ago by people who desired instruction. At that time, she was unable to take up that work, but arrangements for personal instruction, regarding details can be obtained by calling Arlington Heights 692-R.

Arlington Autoist Sells Own Car To Pay Damages To Others

Reinhold Nichols, 405 Haddon street, Arlington Heights, will not drive any auto for a year because he had to sell his car to pay damages to two autoists that were hit by him April 4 and because Judge Kopplin told him Saturday that he could not drive any car for 12 months. Nichols had hit the car of Oscar Johnson at Miner and Evergreen street and the car of Geo. Meyer at State road and Miner. He spent two days in the village hotel, prior to being arraigned before the judge. Nichols was perfectly willing to sell his car in order to pay the damage that he had caused.

COOKING SCHOOL FOR ARLINGTON

Herald Sponsors Event at Theatre; Merchants Offer Prizes.

Cooking schools have become increasingly popular among the women folks of a great many communities and Arlington Heights is now going to have one. Through an arrangement that has been made of the Dreyer Electric Co. and with the cooperation of a large number of the local business houses, a two day cooking school will be held at Arlington Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday, April 28 and 29.

A nationally known food economist will conduct the school. The grand prize will be your choice of a Norge Refrigerator, Norge Gas Range, Ironer or Washer, a $105.00 value. There will be a score of food baskets and other prizes will be added attractions.

Arrangements for this school were completed only a few hours before this paper went to press and it is impossible to publish all details in this issue, but a sufficient number of local business men have been visited to insure the united interest of the entire business district in an event which is expected to attract people from other communities as well as Arlington Heights to Arlington Theatre April 28 and 29. Full details will be found in next week's issue.

MISS LOUISE EDMONSON
NORGE HOME ECONOMIST

Miss Louise Edmonson, who will conduct the Herald Cooking school at Arlington Theatre April 28 and 29, is a charming Indiana girl, distinctly of the "home body" type. Early in life she had to make herself useful around the kitchen. While she found this work she most enjoyed, she still felt that the housewife's cares might be greatly lessened. In an attempt to help in this direction, she has found her career.

Miss Edmonson is a graduate of the Home Economics Course at Purdue University, where she received a thorough grounding in home planning and operation.

In years of appearances at special exhibits she has won a host of friends by her evident interest in the problems of women who have consulted her for advice.

Women everywhere have expressed their pleasure at the entertaining manner in which she presents valuable information. She is always eager to stay on after her formal demonstration and chat with individual women at length. In fact, she says that this is the part of her work that gives her greatest pleasure.

One of Miss Edmonson's specialties is the creation of new and appetizing dishes that are easy and economical to prepare.

Dumping of Rubbish Must Be Stopped

The dumping of additional rubbish upon the village property in the eastern part of town must be stopped. An increasing number of autos are observed, especially on Saturday and Sunday, entering the former dumping ground with quantities of rubbish, even auto bodies and parts. Some of these cars are from without the corporate limits of the village.

An order has been issued to the police department to arrest any person discovered dumping rubbish upon the above property. At the present time, there is no dumping ground available, even for the customary spring collection of rubbish.

By order of the village board.

THE LEGION MINSTRELS ARE HERE

Advance Sale of Tickets Is Heavy; A Great Entertainer.

The show of the century—The Legion Minstrels—is here this Thursday and Friday nights, April 16 and 17, at the Arlington Heights high school auditorium. Arlington Heights has not seen a minstrel show with local talent for many years. The show is being put on by Merle Guild Post No. 208 of the American Legion and every one participating in the show is a member of the Post. There will be 30 Legion boys in the cast.

What a show it is going to be. The good old-time Minstrel Show with an interlude—"Gentlemen be seated"—and men, solo and group singing, dancing, and specialty acts. There will be two sketches besides all this. What a show! What a show! Jack May, chairman of the committee says it will add ten years to the life of those that attend. Charlie Miller, Senior Vice Commander of the Post, says it is a sure cure for depression blues, election blues, dyspepsia or whatever ails you.

The advance sale of tickets has been the heaviest of any activity the Post has ever put on. A packed house is assured for each night of the show. There is even the possibility that it may be necessary to run the show a third night to accommodate the crowds. Both adults and children's tickets will be on sale at the door of the auditorium the two nights of the show. All tickets are good either night. There are no reserved nights. So the Legion Minstrel show committee suggests that tickets be bought as soon as possible and that all persons attending get to the auditorium as early as possible to get a good seat. The curtain goes up at 8:15. Says C. L. Griffith, Commander of the Post, "Whoever misses this show will regret it the rest of his life. There won't be another one like it for many years."

HOME FROM ILLINOIS
Mr. Carl Klehm spent his Easter vacation at home. With him was his friend, Mr. Richard Webb, of Massachusetts, a classmate from Illinois.

SUBURBS GIVE HORNER BIG SUPPORT

Northwest Suburbs Join Down State In Rolling Up Huge Majority.

Governor Horner not alone swept the state of Illinois at the Democratic primaries Tuesday, but he also swept the Northwest suburbs. He carried Wheeling township nearly three to one and with the exception of an occasional precinct the predicted unpopularity of the Chicago health commissioner was much in evidence. The township of Schaumburg went for Horner seven to one, giving Bundesden only 13 votes.

The Brooks victory was almost as great. In Wheeling township Brooks was three to one over Small, while Caldwell polled only 36 votes. In Elk Grove the Brooks victory was nearly five to one.

The Northwest Suburbs all favored Knox for president, over Borah, although the latter polled some heavy votes.

Moreland was an easy victor over all opponents for the congressional nomination.

"Charlie of the Ozarks" A. H. Senior Play Friday, April 24, 1936

Indications are that "Charlie of the Ozarks," the annual Senior class play this year will equal "The Youngest" of last year, and another capacity crowd is anticipated. This production will be given Friday evening, April 24, in the high school auditorium. It is a humorous farce with an abundance of laugh provoking situations and clever lines contributing to the unfolding of a plot you are sure to enjoy. The experiences of the poorly educated girl from the Ozarks in a large city present a series of complications when the fiancé of a wealthy society girl has a change of heart in spite of any influence exerted by his aunt, a meticulous granny who turns out to be human after all, and by his intended bride's family. The development of the story is swift, yet includes a suspense that will make you suffer the fear that all may not end happily and containing so much comedy that you'll be laughing every minute.

The cast includes: Eunice Ivers, Margaret Kastning, Adeline Busse, Marjorie Sayers, Charmion Sieburg, Ray Salzman, Billy Foley, John Weber, Joe Bernhard, and Albert Froemling. The price of admission is 35 cents, and seats may be reserved at Sieburg's Drug store on or after April 20.

Electric Installation Now Available at Low Cost to Farmers

A review of recent rural electrical development in Illinois shows that the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois has been energetically extending its electric system to hundreds of additional farms.

Last year over 1,100 farm and rural customers were supplied for the first time with electricity by Public Service Company, and this progress is being extended at the rate of approximately 100 additional customers each month.

The policy on which this program of development is based is that of extending electric service to any farm or group of farmers who will use for a period of 80 months an amount of electricity each month equal in cost to 1/80th of the investment made by the Company to serve them with the understanding that each monthly bill shall not be less than $3.50. The electricity is furnished at the same rates to rural and farm customers as to those in cities and villages served by the Company. This arrangement enables the farmer to obtain electricity without any investment on his part for the extension to his premises, providing he uses the required amount of electricity. This plan has been received very favorably by the farmers as is indicated by the fact that the Company is connecting more than 100 additional farm customers each month.

Thus, farmers who have not heretofore, for one reason or another, been able to have electricity work for them on their farms are now finding this possible. Today Public Service Company has made service available to over 14,000 farms and rural homes, which is about a 50% coverage.

RED WINGS INVITE LOCAL TOWN PLAYERS

Aspirants To Report Sunday Afternoon at Red Wing Ball Diamond.

The Red Wings will again represent Arlington Heights in the baseball world. Chas. Page, who has managed the team the past few seasons, has again consented to take charge of the boys. He has issued a call for all players who desire a berth upon the team to report Sunday at 1:30 p. m., at the Red Wing grounds.

The Red Wings made a name for themselves last year and was well supported by the community. Composed largely of local boys, it was a home team and the home people rallied to its support. "Bigger and better baseball in Arlington Heights" has been the aim of Mr. Page. Success has met his efforts in the past and he is looking for bigger and better teams for his boys to meet the coming season.

MRS. McNAB IS DEAD

Mrs. D. T. McNab passed away quietly at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Minnie Beaumont, Wednesday afternoon, after a two week's illness.

The funeral will be held Saturday at 2:30 p. m. at the Presbyterian church.

Elect Township Committees For New Soil Conservation Program of Government

"There is practically no farmer in Cook county who cannot advantageously adapt his agriculture to take advantage of the New Soil Conservation program," says O. G. Barrett, Farm Adviser.

We have been holding meetings in both the south and north portions of the county in each township and though the attendance has not been large the interest has run high. Generally the farmers have studied the program and it is their conclusion that they can profit by its application. "I find," says Mr. Barrett, "that a goodly number of our dairymen have already made adjustments which will entitle them to Class I benefit payments as well as Class II the amount of the two combined being quite substantial and that for changing only as they already have changed, thinking that they were practicing a better agriculture."

There are many others, including our truck gardeners, who I feel sure can, to much advantage to themselves, make the necessary conversion from soil depleting to soil conserving or soil building crops.

Truck gardeners taking 15% of their true crops out and planting soybeans and plowing them under would receive an advantage in four ways:

1. He would reduce the amount of vegetables going on the market.
  2. He would encourage his neighbor to do likewise and again reduce the amount of vegetables on the market, thus balancing the supply to the demand and relieving the glut of the market as we have seen it these latter years.
  3. He would improve his 15% as much as he depleted the remaining 85% and thereby keep his farm at a normal level of productivity or maintenance; and
  4. He would receive a benefit payment of an amount quite sufficient to pay for the expense of the acres, including the taxes.
- It seems, therefore, that our truck gardeners and our dairymen

ELECTION IS CALLED BY A. H. PARK BOARD

Bond Issue For Purchase of Park Before Voters May 23rd.

The voters of the Arlington Heights park district will have the opportunity May 23, to voice their approval upon a bond issue, which if carried, will enable the park board to purchase the land and pay all taxes and assessments upon the property which is being improved by the WPA $200,000 park project. The amount of the bond issue is placed at $23,000, but all of these bonds will not be issued as considerable savings in paying of assessments is anticipated. The bonds will carry 5%, unless when bids are received a lower rate of interest is obtainable.

The Arlington Heights park board met Monday evening and having received the options upon the property required for the new recreation park, passed an ordinance covering the bond issue and also an ordinance calling a special election on May 23, 1936, for the submission of the bond issue proposition to the voters.

Attorney Hugo J. Thal in submitting the ordinance, to the board, presented the following figures, which were used as a basis for the amount of the proposed bond issue:

Purchase of lands	$10,500.00
Special assessments	11,299.10
General taxes	1,437.08
Estimated expense	400.00

Total cost, maximum $23,636.19

The reductions in the tax item is estimated from $1,000 to $2,000, and in the opinion of the board the total cost could not in any manner exceed $23,000, the amount of the bond issue. Any bonds that are not needed will be cancelled.

The bonds will be in the denominations of $1,000 each, one due each year, except for the years, 1954, 1955 and 1956 when $2,000 will be paid. Interest and principal of the bonds are guaranteed under the ordinance, which with the election notice is published in full in this issue.

If You Could Only Cook?

This is not a slam at housewives or a registered complaint of local husbands.
It happens to be the odd title of one of the best pictures of the year. It will be shown for one night only at the Arlington next Tuesday night along with the weekly Derby event.

King of Burlesque is another ace high picture with a title that doesn't commence to measure up to the excellency of the offering. It is a story of a fine young fellow who sets out to modernize stage offerings in a high class way and get into new environments, tangles, thrills, love trouble and combat. Alice Faye is beautiful as the spunky heroine. Baxter is at his best; Oakie, a scream and a new youngster does things with tap feet that doesn't seem possible. It's a great show in a big way and it's ideal for the entire family. It is at the Arlington Friday and Saturday nights of this week.

The Arlington, for the next Chinaware night, are introducing a new individual item which will be given With Next Time We Love. Ceiling Zero is on the way soon plus a host of great pictures for the fall and race season.
A Flight Over Mt. Everest, a 3-reel subject, has been awarded the academy prize for best short subject feature. It will be shown along with a Night At the Opera Sunday and Monday.

The two Easter services at St. John's Evangelical church were well attended. The church was decorated with palms, lilies and other flowers.

NO MORE GUESS-WORK ON THIS FARM

This picture a scene taking place these days in many a farm home. The telephone is going back in! Many farmers are reordering the service which they reluctantly gave up in the past few years. Others are to have a telephone for the first time. But all of them will profit from the telephone's time, effort and money-saving services. A few cents saved by one call, a sizeable profit made because of another—and soon the telephone has more than paid for itself. And besides its dollars and cents value the farm telephone is a source of pleasure and protection to every member of the family. Order one today.

SO. SIDE BREEZES

A general meeting of the Camp Fire Groups will be held Friday afternoon at the South Side School. The girls will receive instruction on what to look for on a hike, and will also learn how to make leather head bands.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hines and children visited relatives in Belvidere, Sunday. There the children took part in an Easter egg hunt.

Mrs. Wm. Kopplin is visiting in Racine, Wis., this week with Mr. and Mrs. Roque. However, they will be bringing her home in time for them all to see the Minstrel show Friday night.

Wednesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Bowlin entertained their bridge club.

Mrs. Raymond Dieball was hostess Tuesday evening, to the St. John's and Chatter club. No doubt they interrupted their chatter to listen to election returns.

Jacksonville, Ill., is Mrs. Alfred Capps old home, so when she went to attend a wedding, she remained to visit her relatives and friends for a week.

Easter day was spent by Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Franke with his mother in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Compton and boys, Buddy and the twins, visited the Barretts over the week-end.

James Barrett had two birthday cakes this year, one Easter day, that the Compton boys and his little cousin, Russell Barrett of Chicago might enjoy it; the second on his birthday, Friday, when some of his little school friends came to lunch. He is eight years old.

Mrs. B. Brynaldson, whom you heard last year in a concert and at various other times is planning to give vocal lessons, as will be noted in the classified ad section. An artist, herself, she would like to help talented young people. We feel that she is sincere when she says that she has an earnest desire to further the interest of music in Arlington Heights.

The Gleaner's Circle will meet next Wednesday evening, April 22 at the home of Mrs. Wm. Harth, E. Euclid. Bring your favorite poem. If your new Easter gloves were size 6, bring twelve cents for the treasury, in other words, your glove size is the basis for your contribution this month.

Mrs. Adele Marie BRYNALDSON

ANNOUNCES

IS NOW AVAILABLE
Mrs. Brynaldson (Adele Marie Nuttini) gave a public concert in Arlington Heights last April and it is in response to repeated requests for vocal instruction, that she has decided to accept pupils.

Full details can be obtained by phone to Arlington Heights 692-R
RESIDENCE: 604 S. BELMONT

Never was there such an election held in Arlington as the Primary Tuesday this week, so many contesting elements one doesn't know who or which.

Mrs. Margaret Harris received a message first of the week from Algonquin of the sudden death Sunday morning of her cousin, Mr. Edward Peters. He had been visiting Mrs. Harris with his daughter about two weeks ago and the friends did not realize he was in failing health. His death was sudden.

About two weeks ago Mrs. Harris had word of the death of Mr. James, husband of her cousin, Nellie Higgins James, who passed away after a long lingering illness in his home at Delavan, Wisconsin. Nellie Higgins was well known in Arlington Heights by older residents who will be interested in this item. Certainly Mrs. Harris has passed through contrasting experiences within the month, two deaths of relatives, and the marriage of her grandson, Elroy.

The Junior aid of the Presbyterian church will hold its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Eugene Stroker, 815 N. Pine, Tuesday, April 21.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil McWharter were called to Adrian, Michigan to attend the funeral of Mrs. McWharter's aunt, Mrs. John Rexford. They left here early Sunday morning and were there in time to attend the funeral. They stayed over Sunday night and arrived back home Monday evening.

Dr. E. A. Elfeld arrived home last Saturday from Philadelphia where he left his daughter, Dr. Persis Elfeld, who is progressing toward recovery after serious surgical treatment. She was keeping in touch with her office by telephone and eager to get back to her work. Mrs. Elfeld is remaining with her until she is quite recovered.

Mr. and Mrs. William Pochs and their daughter and family were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Meizer of North State Road.

Miss Marcia Ruth Martens, who was at home several days last week returned to her classes in State University Monday.

Mrs. Hitzman and daughter, Miss Lydia, from Chicago spent Easter Sunday with their relatives in the Heights. Mrs. Hitzman was a member of the Rascher family and had several to visit.

Dr. and Mrs. Howard Dunn went to Chicago Easter Sunday to attend her old church and visit her mother and sisters in her home.

Shirley, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marten Wike, was taken to Grant hospital last Friday for treatment, and is reported to be doing well.

Easter afternoon Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Blume went to Edison Park, to call on his relatives and also on the Vebecks at Norwood Park. Mrs. Vebeck was formerly Miss Hannah Lunz of Arlington Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Bauer and little son, have moved out from Chicago and are at present in his parent's home. We are glad to hear Stephen has employment here in his old home town.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bollero come home from the south last week in time for Mrs. Bollero to see her grandmother before she passed away.

Mr. and Mrs. Raoul Peeter had a message of the sudden death of a family connection, who passed away at his home in Libertyville, Sunday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Peeter drove over to Libertyville that evening. The name of their friend, who passed away was W. A. Dietz.

Mr. and Mrs. Ned Jayne and little son from Wheaton were Easter day guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Kau and Sister Aurelia and brother, Orson.

Dr. and Mrs. Edward Garbo from the city were recent guests of her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fitzpatrick.

Miss Sarah Harris accompanied her nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Harris, to DeKalb, Saturday to be present at the marriage of his brother, Elroy Harris and Miss Aloise Henning, in her home in that city. Miss Henning is one of our public school teachers and is well known here.

Word was received here by friends of the L. B. Waymans, that they were starting north first of the week from their winter home in Texas, where they spent the long, cold winter. Their daughter, Mrs. Sieloff accompanies them.

ARLINGTON HTS.

What is the news? Just politics, cutting up some unusual tricks; A glorious Easter, never more were churches so crowded to the door;

Death's shadow, spread o'er many homes, And sadness with the Easter comes The Easter lilies fragrant yet, The Master's touch never forget, There be some who seem to fear; To let their names in this sheet appear;

They may hear versions on the street, Make them prefer clean lines to meet, They scorn home paper news o'er much, Mayhap home paper scorns their touch.

A wonderful Easter, sunshine and flowers everywhere. All the churches crowded to overflowing. Ministers and choirs giving the glad tidings of resurrection morn.

At dawn we heard the Easter bells ring out. The glad tidings "Christ has risen." Many children were confirmed into the Christian Faith. When we saw this Easter with crowded churches, we praised God with new hope.

Children returned to school after making the most of vacation, Monday.

The Friendly class met for their regular meeting Tuesday in their room at the same hour.

The Fidelis Circle met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Charles Scherf, Mrs. Meizer assistant hostess.

The Social Five Hundred met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Elmer Ihle in her home on South Evergreen avenue.

The Legion Minstrel show will be given April 16 and 17, in the high school hall. Don't miss this show, it will renew your youth to see it.

Sunday evening, April 19, the St. James players will give a play in the school hall, a comedy well worth seeing.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Petterson of Des Plaines spent Easter Sunday with his parents and sister, Miss Marian, in their home in Arlington Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. George Harris and daughter, Margaret, spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Otto Rexes, at Des Plaines.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Ackley from Chicago, were Sunday guests of his brother and sisters in Arlington Heights.

Mrs. R. Guild went to Park Ridge to be a guest of her son, Bruce R. Guild and family Easter day.

The North Side National Tea Company has a new resident manager, his name is Mr. Howard Voss. With his family he recently moved here from Norwood Park, where he had been manager for several years. He came in time to have part in the Easter arrangements in the store. After his induction he makes a fine impression on customers and seems to fit into his new environment.

High School Science Classes Visit Linder's Flour Mill and Telephone Exchange

On the morning of April 2, the Arlington Heights Science club met at the office of the Arlington Roller Mills, where Mr. Lindner showed and explained to them how flour was made. He also showed them how he prepared poultry feeds.

On Wednesday, April 8, the science classes had the opportunity to visit our local telephone plant. This gave the students a better chance to see just what goes on before they can carry on a telephone conversation.

We wish to thank Mr. Lindner and the Illinois Bell Telephone Company who made it possible for our students to enjoy these educational trips.

WOMANS CLUB

The Book Circle will meet Friday, April 24, in the home of Mrs. B. J. Best.

1st Vice President—Mrs. Everett Wallenfeldt.
2nd Vice President—Mrs. Thomas Wilson.

We are sure we voice the sentiment of the whole club in expressing our sincere appreciation and love for our retiring president, Mrs. B. H. Jarvis, always gentle, courteous and patient. May she find larger and less confusing expression and inspiration for her talent and precious gifts.

10 Schools To Attend at Palatine Relays

Ten teams have entered the Fourth Annual Palatine Relays to be held Saturday, April 25 starting at 1:30 p. m. A track and field program of 16 events is being planned by a group with a total of 77 competitors. The next winner will receive a trophy. Medals will be awarded to the first five places in the regular track and field events and first place awards will be given in each of three relay races.

The meet, which was won last year by Arlington Heights, will this year have as competitors in addition to the defending champ the teams from Barrington, Bensenville, Crystal Lake, Geneva, Grant, Leyden, Libertyville, Palatine and Woodstock. All the schools except Leyden were in last year's meet.

New events on the schedule this year are the Frosh-Soph 440 yard relay, Medley Relay, and 120 yard high hurdles. The meet will start at 1:30 p. m. with the pole vault and shot put, and the track events will not start until 2:00 p. m.

Last year six meet records were broken by such stars as Hahnfeldt of Palatine, Rohlwing of Arlington and Merwin of Woodstock. These boys were state winners later in the season. Hahnfeldt broke the state javelin and discus records in the Palatine relay meet last April.

This year most of the teams find few stars of former years remaining. Arlington has only Johnson of last year's team. Palatine and Crystal Lake have none of last year's track team to enter in the meet. Barrington has only Noftz returning. Libertyville and Woodstock are the favorites this year with Grant and Geneva the dark horses. Bensenville has three good men in Gallery, Koske and Davis.

The best opportunity for record breaking performances appears to be in the high jump and 220 yard dash. Ray of Libertyville cleared six feet in the high jump at the Oak Park relays and should smash the Palatine mark of five feet eight inches. Kramer of Woodstock, a veteran of three years, may break the 220 mark. He holds the 100 yard dash mark of 10.1 seconds made three years ago when a sophomore. Peacock of Woodstock in the hurdles and Sharo of Grant in the shot are other outstanding men.

Observer's Notes

Of all man's wild propensities To probe the realms of space, We gaze on vast immensities Tremendous powers to trace. Yet of our so-called science gain, Through high school and the college We find this boast is vain. When one rose greatest of our age, In all the lines of knowledge, Who had but one short year in school, And never learned by vote or rule, Today there is no man so wise, Great Lincoln's words to criticize.

Think on this, Lincoln the most wise statesman, philosopher, poet and writer of our English speaking people. He thought, yea, absorbed from best books and from noblest characters in book or in life.

His Gettysburg speech or address is inscribed on the walls of Westminster as the most perfect gem in English literature. Proving that education is not gained by cramming into the mind, but by drawing out.

April now well on its way and the last snow well off the ground, the air is full of static, hindering prognostications. The politicians are telling how they love us, what they long to do for us. The children are still interested in Bunnie, and laying schemes to catch him, bring the Easter eggs.

The hen is the real Easter bird and the rabbit maybe bright when he jumps beyond the hunters ken, the hen is always reliable and knows the latest fad in colors. The bunnies feet may bring luck, but from the beginning of Lent until the chimes of Easter ring, the hen most certainly holds the balance of power.

Good Friday was generally observed in and throughout all Christendom. Are we poor blind mortals, at last becoming aware of all our Lord sacrificed that we might through His example live? Lord forgive though we forget, All thy love hath wrought, Bring to our remembrance yet, Benefits forgot.

Good Friday night celebrat'd in the churches, Easter day preparations all through Saturday. The children scores of them held divided enthusiasm between Easter flowers, colored Easter cards until throngs of them waited impatient the time of admission to the picture show so generously staged by one of our politicians. It was an amusing, pleasant sight to see, proving that even politics can develop pleasant features.

A sunset in violent coloring, a dash of April rain and some one reporting two in this vicinity. Some other peppy person tells of a painless way of paying taxes, and one of candidates for Governor tells us how to be healthy, happy and hopeful in just three simple ways: Keep your head cool, your feet warm and vote the Republican ticket. To be substituted by another party, to suit your preference. At any rate keep your head cool, your heart warm and watch your step.

Good Friday night we heard Dr. Kossack paint the picture of poor rash Peter, who so shamefully denied His Lord. He described his violent denials, and his bitter anguish, when he saw the sorrow in his master's gentle pitying face. How many of us, too oft like Peter say rash bitter words to those whom we love best, and suffer for it and would recall if we could, a hurt to one we love.

Peter on the mount that day, Dazed in awe and fright, Knew not just the words to say, So said words not quite right.

We now reading of his plight, Blame his thoughtless word, Yet in speech are we tonight Less than he be absurd?

Off our Prayers unto the Lord Fail us to express Heart desires and each vain word. Speaks our fright no less.

In the crisis of each day, Baffling human things, God forgive the things we say, Rushing into speech.

Trembling Peter dazed in fright, Spoke the foolish word; Poor weak Peter, dark the night He denied His Lord.

In the vale, or on the height, Lord, show us Thy will; Whelmed by darkness, dazed by light, Teach us silence still.

John the Apostle whom Jesus loved, preached "Repent and turn from your sins" not repent and keep on sinning, as most of us do. Ah me, "there is so much bad in the best of us" why criticize any of us. The world looks and judges from the outside appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart. We thank God this is our true judgment.

In a recent letter from our kind friend and old neighbor, Mr. J. J. Dietrich tells us of the Arlington Heights picnic out in California. It was scheduled to be April 4, to be in the Park, however, it rained to spoil all outdoors and the next day Mr. and Mrs. Harold Oefelein invited them to their home where thirty-one old time Arlington Heights folk were royally entertained and had a happy time.

Yes, they had a pleasant time, yet memories made a sad touch on many hearts. There were eighteen missing from their number since 1926, when they had their picnic. Some gone who were nearest and dearest, yet we do believe they were not far from their dear ones on that day, and rejoiced with those they love.

Following were those present at this gathering: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Oefelein, Mrs. Isabel Royal Allen, J. J. Dietrich, L. G. Helm and Mrs. Fred Helm, Mrs. George Helm and her daughters, Mary and Grace Helm, Mr. and Mrs. Dorn, Mrs. Dever, Mrs. Sorenson, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Volz, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Helmkin, Mrs. C. T. House, Mrs. Rose Lutidge White, Mr. and Mrs. Lester T. Allison, Mr. and Mrs.

(Bernie Allison), Graser, Mrs. Eulalia Rawson, Mr. and Mrs. (Ethel Allison) Henderson and son, Wallace Volz and a Mr. Johnson from Arlington Heights. Mr. and Mrs. Hewitt, the Hendersons drove down from about seventy miles north where they left a big snow storm behind them.

For each old neighbor and good friend, We would joy for old times sake To meet with you, good cheer to blend; But we're too weak to stand a quake, Down here in Illinois you know We have all kinds of weather, And a queerer lot than you can show, Of folks when we get together,

"Believe it or not" if the years keep me a moving on one of these days, I may put on my old sunbonnet and you'll hear my "sweet voice" singing "California Here I Come." Anything may happen after the first hundred years.

When so many sad things are taking place, so many losing loved ones from earth life, it is a real joy to be able to note an incident in the life of our friends that brought real joy. This was to Miss K. J. Kealey and her brother, S. F. Kealey, whose home is in San Jose, California.

The father of the Kealeys was master of the kings query on the Isle of Wight, in England, and there the children had as playmates children of the Cook family. It had been twenty years since the Cook and Kealey children had known each other. In December, Mr. G. F. Kealey learned from the papers, that his old playmate, now Captain Cook of the Royal Mail Liner, of which he is now master, was to dock on the northwest Pacific coast.

Mr. Kealey was having his vacation at that time and so went up to meet him. These old time playmates, what a joyful meeting and what a delightful trip the Master of the Royal Mail gave his long ago playfellow. Their pictures on the ship and the account was given in the Morning Oregonian, from which we quote: "A long ways from the tale of Wight, it gave joy to our friends, the Kealeys."

Just a few briefs, why don't we rise up and protect our home leaders and business men from this Chicago Shopper gang?

April with her springtime showers, Bedraggled trails her way; She must sustain the roots of flowers, May comes to claim some day.

Heard a wonderful Easter sermon given by one of our candidates for Governor Easter night. The greatest of all our great inconsistencies was the dress parade in the city Easter day.

"Come from the four winds O" breath: Breathe upon these slain, that they may live."

This is the cry that should go out from our homes, our halls and our churches, where we are smothered for lack of pure, clean air that our physical being may live, we call for pure air. No less is the menace of a tainted sin poisoned atmosphere bringing death to our moral well being. Clean up the moral atmosphere of our town our public places, yea, even our homes that we may live.

Come from the four winds, O breath, Breathe upon these that are slain, Bound in the semblance of death; Fan, fan into life once again, They go, with unseeing eyes In the ope of destruction's jaws; They heed not kind nature's laws, Nor what warning prophet saith.

O, the pestilence maketh unwise, While ever the four winds strive, To fan out abominable things; Disease and its foul germs to drive, Before their health giving wings; We bar from our homes and halls, The reviving magical breath, Still blind to the fiend that enthralls, A victim who silently falls In that fearsome semblance of death.

Come on the four winds, O breath, Breathe life into somnolent minds, Steeped in lethargy more dire than death. That dulls and hinders and binds, Till we miss not the life giving force, The blessed elixir that sweeps On winds astray from their source Of life, that restoring life keeps.

Come on the four winds O breath, Breathe on many we've slain; Going blindly on unto death, Unbreeding the warning, so sure, And oft repeated in vain. Life's Elixir is air flowing pure, Unbought, untainted and free, O, open your windows your door, That brings new life unto thee; Come on the winds, O breath, Unto life that is living restore.

Elmore Crisler Haynes.

VOICE OF PEOPLE

To Whom It May Concern: I want to thank all of you loyal friends who supported me in my bid for public office.

I feel that inasmuch as I made you no promise, had no factional backing, no staff of workers, and no cars to take you to the polls, I was not beaten too badly.

It is my sincere wish that we all unite in putting across the worthy and fine candidates that won Republican nominations for your November ballot.

As long as Al Volz refuses to accept my congratulations, may I pass them on to the persons who worked and electioneered in his behalf.

Elmer B. Sachs.

AT THE CATLOW

When Charlie Chaplin makes a new picture, that is good news to the entire world. There is no other star whose name is so universally known, and whose films are so eagerly awaited. "Modern Times" is the latest production starring Chaplin; it will play the Catlow theatre, Barrington, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

The story strikes an ultra modern note with Chaplin among the huge wheels, dynamos, whirling belts, giant presses and drills of a 20th century steel factory. It offers an entirely new comedy environment for the little man with the big shoes and the baggy trousers, and involves him in a novel series of situations, ranging from gasps of apprehension to gales of laughter. Pauline Goddard, as a street gamin, and Chester Conklin, as a companion mechanic, head the supporting cast.

Following "Modern Times" will be the Wednesday-Thursday showing of "The Ghost Goes West." In this tale of a "spook" that haunts an old Scottish castle, Robert Donat (sensational star of "Monte Cristo") and Jean Parker play the leading roles.

Thursday and Friday of this week will be the final nights for the showing of "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine." This well-known outdoor romance is filmed in technicolor; Sylvia Sydney and Fred MacMurray are starred.

Saturday brings Jackie Cooper and Rin Tin Tin, Jr., in "Tough Guy," an adventure in which young Cooper and this famous dog offer a breathless piece of entertainment.

Speed to Escape From Earth—The velocity of escape from earth—that is, the velocity required to carry a projectile beyond its gravitational influence—is 36,000 miles per second. What is believed to be the speediest bullet, the Gerlich bullet, is capable of travelling almost a mile a second. This would not be great enough speed to carry it beyond the atmosphere.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS GARDEN CLUB

Article two on the making of lawns by the Arlington Heights Garden club. Article one will be found in last week's paper.

Rolling. A reasonably firm soil is necessary for the proper diffusion of moisture. Rolling the newly seeded lawn firms the soil and brings the seed into contact with the moist soil particles. Rolling the established lawn in the spring presses the grass roots which have been heaved by freezing and thawing back into the soil, thus making possible better growth of the grass and smoothing the surface.

The lawn should be rolled as soon as the frost is out of the ground, when the surface is soft and moist but not wet. A soil which tends to be loose and sandy will stand more rolling than a heavy soil. Where the soil is heavy clay which forms a crust as it dries, rolling may do more harm than good. The hollow rollers which can be filled with water or sand so as to weigh from 175 to 265 pounds are convenient. About 100 pounds of weight for each foot of roller width is recommended for ordinary use.

Mowing, raking, and mulching. It is best to let new grass grow until it is necessary to mow it to keep it from falling over. Experiments have shown that grass makes its best growth when the mower is set high, at least 1½ inches, and the nearer 3 inches the better. A certain amount of green foliage is necessary for the manufacture of starch to nourish the roots and runners which make a strong turf.

The shady lawn should not be mowed as often or as closely as the sunny lawn. Infrequent mowing is the rule in hot weather but it is better to clip grass lightly and more often than to cut it closely at longer intervals. When clippings are light it is just as well in midsummer at least to let them lie to form a mulch which will protect the roots from the hot sun.

Grass should be encouraged to grow freely in the fall, but it should not be allowed to grow so long that it falls over and forms a heavy mat. For the same reason a heavy fall of leaves should be raked off the lawn. Some leaves can be used for mulching around shrubbery. It is a good idea to pile the remainder in some corner of the yard where they will decompose to form leafmold useful for improving garden soil. A winter mulch on the lawn is unsightly and unnecessary, except possibly in the case of a late seeding which may be covered lightly with straw to protect the new grass from being heaved out of the soil by alternate freezing and thawing. When manure is put on the lawn in fall or winter the soluble fertilizer elements are leached out and wasted.

Watering. It is probable that more lawns are spoiled by sprinkling than by drought. Kentucky bluegrass is more or less inactive in hot weather, and the chief effect of frequent light watering is to encourage crab grass, which thrives with heat and moisture. Bluegrass which is not watered may turn brown, but it seldom fails to revive when the fall rains begin.

Where the lawn is watered occasionally during extended dry spells, the sprinkler should be allowed to play in one spot for about an hour, so that the soil will be soaked to a depth of 3 or 4 inches. If the ground is comparatively level the water may be allowed to run in a gentle stream directly from the hose. There is considerable loss from evaporation when sprinkling is done during the middle of the day, otherwise the time of watering makes little difference.

Weed control. A good way to avoid weeds in the new lawn is to spade or plow the ground in the spring and cultivate it through the summer, thus killing the weeds which develop from the numerous seeds always present in the soil. Manure usually carries many weed seeds, which is one reason why the practice of mulching the lawn with manure is not recommended. On the other hand, the use of clean fertilizers to stimulate the grass is one of the most practical means of weed control.

Hand weeding is fairly effective against most weeds, especially if it is done systematically on small lawns. Chemicals can be used to advantage in some cases. A pinch of ammonium sulphate placed in the crown of a dandelion, for example, causes the plant to dry up. Ammonium sulphate can also be used as described against chickweed. One advantage from its use in weeds is the fact that it acts as a fertilizer after it becomes dispersed in the soil.

Iron sulphate is sometimes recommended as a spray where dandelions or other low-growing weeds are abundant. A solution is made with 1½ pounds of iron sulphate (copperas) to 1 gallon of water. It should be strained before use through several thicknesses of cheesecloth to remove sediment. Iron sulphate penetrates better if the weeds are bruised in some way before the spray is applied, and the treatment is most effective on warm bright days. Three or more applications are usually necessary before the weeds are killed. Bluegrass is blackened and weakened by iron sulphate, especially in hot weather, but the injury is usually temporary. Clover and creeping bent grass are killed by this spray. It also leaves a permanent stain on clothing, stone and cement work.

Sodium chlorate is used on certain noxious weeds, but we do not recommend it for spraying weeds in the lawn. While it has been tried with some success on golf fairways, the experiments have also shown that it is not dependable, and grass may be badly injured or killed. Moreover, sodium chlorate is dangerous when dried on clothing or other organic material it forms an explosive mixture.

Some of the most practical control measures for crab grass, dandelions, plantains, knotweed, chickweed, sorrel, shepherd's purse, purslane and orchard grass are mentioned below. Crab grass or finger grass is an annual, and all annual weeds should be prevented if possible from forming seed. It is sometimes feasible on small areas to pull out crab grass seedlings by hand as fast as they appear. Something can be accomplished also by careful mowing. Mow first in one direction, then raise the prostrate stems with a rake and mow in the other direction so as to get as many of the flowering spikes as possible. It is important to fertilize the lawn in the fall and early spring when crab grass is not growing and to avoid frequent light sprinkling in hot weather. There is no spray which can be recommended for use against crab grass.

Dandelion roots will produce new crowns unless they are cut several inches below the surface. The use of ammonium sulphate has already been referred to. Some advocates the use of gasoline applied with an oil can to the cut surface of the root or directly to the crown of the plant. Others puncture the crown with a sharpened stick or wire dipped in concentrated sulphuric acid.

Another recommendation is to apply a few drops of a sodium chlorate solution containing 1 pound of sodium chlorate to 1 quart of hot water. A recent suggestion is to treat lawns where dandelions are abundant with a fine spray of pure kerosene, in the spring and again in the fall. As the effects of this treatment under varying conditions are at present somewhat unknown, it should be tried with caution.

The broad-leaved and buckhorn plantains are perennials which can be pulled easily when the ground is moist, or they can be treated with iron sulphate or sulphuric acid. Knot weed is common along the edges of walks, where it forms long mats. Chemical methods are of little use against knot weed, and it should be pulled up and destroyed before it goes to seed. Mouse-ear chickweed is a perennial with small hairy leaves and white flowers. It creeps through the grass, forming mats which are difficult to remove completely. It should be pulled out carefully when the ground is moist, taking care to get all of the stems. Chickweed growing in sizeable patches can be killed by spraying with a strong solution of ammonium sulphate, 1 pound to 1 gallon of water, or with iron sulphate. Another method is to dust the moist foliage with ammonium sulphate, washing it off the next day. Grass will be burned by this treatment but it will not be permanently injured.

Sheep sorrel dock is found where the soil is poor and often acid. Dock can be pulled by hand or large patches sprayed with iron sulphate. The soil where dock grows should receive fertilizer and lime if strongly acid. Shepherd's purse is an annual which should be pulled early in the season, for it seeds very freely. Large patches can be sprayed with iron sulphate. Purslane is a prostrate, fleshy annual. It is not difficult to pull, and it is kept under control fairly well by mowing if the stems are first lifted with a rake. Orchard grass is a coarse perennial grass which may be introduced into the lawn with mixed seed. The large clumps are difficult to dig out, but they can be killed with a few spoonfuls of gasoline or with a small handful of ammonium sulphate.

Diseases and pests. There are no diseases of lawns in Illinois. Ants are discouraged by a poison bait scattered lightly over the infested part of the lawn. The bait is made by mixing 1 ounce of paris green to 1 pound of brown sugar. The best control for earthworms and white grubs is arsenate of lead, applied at the rate of 5 pounds to 1,000 square feet of lawn. This amount of poison can be spread to best advantage if it is first mixed with a bushel of soil. To avoid any possible burning of the grass brush the lead arsenate into the soil with a broom or wash it in with water. Small children should be kept off the lawn until the poison has disappeared. This treatment is effective for a period of several years.

Claws on Birds' Wings. Birds have claws on their wings, but generally these claws are very tiny and are not useful.

GOOD PLOWING COMBATS BUGS AND DISEASES

Depth of 7 to 8 Inches is Recommended for Most Soils.

Spread of the weed, insect and plant disease menace on Illinois farms has put a new premium on better plowing, according to Thayer Cleaver, junior agricultural engineer, U. S. Department of Agriculture and R. I. Shawl, of the agricultural engineering department, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, authors of a new circular, "Better Plowing," just issued by the college.

"Ninety-nine per cent of all plant growth, and other surface trash harboring pests can be buried by a good, well equipped plow, carefully operated," they say.

The complete and deep coverage of all trash by clean plowing, the circular points out, not only is desirable for a good seed bed but is the most practical large scale method yet developed for combating such pests as the European corn borer.

Other insect pests such as the stalk borer, the corn field ant and the corn root aphid and some plant diseases such as corn ear rot, corn smut, wheat and barley rots can also be partially controlled by clean plowing. For best coverage, a depth of seven to eight inches is recommended for most soils where there is a large volume of trash to be turned under.

"Good plowing," state the authors of the circular, "is dependent upon right field practices before plowing, plow bottoms suited to the soil, proper hitch with reference to both plow and power, attachments suited to the work, correct adjustments of plow and attachments and careful operation of plow and power."

In a section devoted to selecting a new plow, the circular emphasizes the importance of the choice of the right kind of plow and discusses the points to be considered. Copies of the circular No. 450, may be had by writing the College of Agriculture at Urbana.

Red Cross Needs More Help For Flood Relief

The American Red Cross, through its Chicago chapter headquarters at 616 South Michigan avenue, recently issued an appeal for additional contributions to meet the increased needs for disaster relief created by the tornadoes that have swept across six southern states.

Chicago has over-subscribed its quota of $225,000 for the Red Cross Flood Relief Fund, James T. Nicholson, chapter manager, stated today. "We have received $239,755.95. The people residing within our Chicago chapter have responded to our appeal with their usual promptness and generosity. Our appeal and our quota, however, was based on an estimate of 200,000 victims of the eastern floods. The Red Cross already has more than 450,000 flood sufferers under care in 80 counties of 14 states.

"The emergency period of flood relief has been successfully completed. The period of family rehabilitation has commenced. It must, however, continue for many months before those formerly independent and self-reliant can be placed upon self-supporting basis. Nationally, our people have given liberally more than five million dollars. Donations must continue, however, not only to permit the Red Cross to care for those who lost everything in the eastern floods but also for those who have been the victims of recent tornadoes."

"Accordingly the American Red Cross, Chicago chapter, must renew its appeal for funds. No quotas will be assigned. No high pressure or expensive campaign measures will be employed. The cries of distress that have come to us must be answered voluntarily and according to our own consciences. We are confident that our people will respond with renewed generosity."

LOCAL FARMERS WILL BACK NEW SOIL PROGRAM

Over 80 Per Cent Will Cooperate According to IAA Report Just Issued.

Between 80 and 90 per cent of Illinois farmers will co-operate this year in the soil conservation program.

These are estimates of farm advisers and soil conservation committee members interviewed by a representative of the Illinois Agricultural Association last week following township and community meetings held in every county to explain the program.

Observations at township meetings by IAA representatives, extension workers and township committee members in such counties as Will, Lake, Ford, Iroquois, Livingston, Macon, DuPage and Cook led to the following conclusions:

1. Illinois farmers generally are intensely interested in getting the details of the program and applying them to their own farms. Heavy attendance at local meetings was the rule.

2. There will be a substantial increase this Spring in the acreage seeded to legumes, grass seed mixtures, and cover crops for plowing under. The demand for grass seed is greater than the supply in many areas. Use of agricultural limestone will reach new highs this year.

3. Small grain acreage harvested, especially oats, rather than corn and soybeans will receive most of the reduction in the shifting of acres from soil-depleting to soil-conserving crops. Thousands of acres of oats will be clipped or pastured this year.

4. There will be an increase rather than a decrease in corn acreage in 1936. With normal weather farmers predict a less favorable outlook for corn prices.

5. There is much sentiment, particularly in major grain-producing counties, favoring a requirement that farmers with high soil-depleting bases reduce acreage in cash crops more than the designated 15 per cent to be eligible for Class I payments.

6. Depletion of soil fertility has been proceeding at an astonishing rate in counties having the more fertile soils such as Livingston, Ford, Iroquois, Logan, DeWitt, Platt and others where grain is largely sold off.

William Powell and Jean Chaburn in "The Great Ziegfeld"

"The Great Ziegfeld" Twice Daily At Erlanger Theatre

What the public never knew about Ziegfeld is revealed in factual and fabulous episodes in the story of "The Great Ziegfeld," which M-G-M is presenting at the Erlanger Theatre, Chicago, beginning Sunday night, April 12, and continuing twice daily thereafter at 2:30 and 8:30.

The revelations are simultaneously surprising and romantic. In the first place, most of the present generation will be astonished to learn that Ziegfeld was ever in love with Anna Held. The older generation, of course, has heard of their sentimental relations; how he brought her to America; how he starred her in musical comedy; how he made her famous through publicizing her milk bath.

But the younger generation, knowing only of Ziegfeld's perfect home life, his love for domesticity, should never have lost track of the fact that Ziegfeld was young once also, and always completely susceptible to the spell of beauty.

Thus the love scenes in "The Great Ziegfeld" between Ziggie and Anna, as portrayed by Luise Rainer, take on a poignancy and charm representative of transitory young love as it contrasts with enduring and substantial, mature devotion.

Ziegfeld was a man of astonishing originality who was determined always to succeed, no matter what the cost. He is given credit for having collected the most beautiful girls in the world. But only his office staff knew that sometimes he stole beauties deliberately, in the same manner that Paris stole Helen of Troy away from Menelaus.

His procedure was suave, smooth and effective. He would go to a famous dress designer, for instance, and select gowns for his stars. He would discuss materials and patterns. He would talk long and seriously about details of workmanship. Then he would ask to see some of the gowns in stock.

This request was always followed by the appearance of living models, lovely girls who would parade through the studio displaying gowns to advantage. Sometimes one of these models would be beautiful and shapely. But Ziegfeld, despite his reputation for admiring beauty, would pay no attention to her; would merely concentrate his attention on the costume.

After he left the building and had driven five blocks away, however, Ziggie would stop his car suddenly and begin his operations for theft. "Rush back to the costume," he would say to his secretary. "Check up on the orders I gave him and then, when you get the chance, manage secretly to tell that blonde model to call me up tomorrow morning at eleven. She's a beauty. Tell her I'll give her a job in the new Polities—give her more money than she's getting now."

Yes, that was the Ziegfeld procedure and the world gained by it. For thru his collecting of beauty, he delighted the American public, glorified the American girl and built up a tradition about himself.

He could be gentle and severe; cruel or tolerant. When he corrected his stars, he did so considerately, in quiet tones, almost whispers, without anybody knowing the subject of his conversation.

He liked most the people he couldn't have. For no sooner did he hear of the success of a rival performer, than he would make every effort to secure his services whether he needed him or not. Once, he actually dismissed a member of his staff. But when he heard, a week later, that the man was being engaged by someone else at a somewhat brilliant salary, he did not rest until he got the man back again.

Ziegfeld made gallons of money, but he was always in trouble because of his extravagance. He travelled on special trains and took the Royal Suite when he went to Europe.

If he gave a star a scrap book, he had it made to order, in morocco, and then engaged an expensive artist to adorn the book with marginal drawings.

Ziegfeld—man of mystery; reality and legend; Certainly M-G-M has been wise in planting all phases of his character, fabulous and real, into "The Great Ziegfeld."

W. E. Schering, Palatine Again Shoes Horses and Does Blacksmithing

W. E. Schering has discovered that he still possesses the knack of shoeing horses and that his old farmer friends are again glad to bring their farm animals to him. It was many years ago that Mr. Schering retired as a blacksmith and engaged in other business. He has received more than his share of depression knocks, but being as resourceful as he was a good blacksmith, he decided to return to his old trade. He fitted up a blacksmith shop in his barn at the rear of his home, and as friend after friend has spread the good word around, he has been kept increasingly busy. Mr. Schering has the equipment for sharpening all kinds of farm tools and can handle anything in the blacksmithing line.

Big Double Circus Travels on Three Railroad Trains

The world's newest big show, the Cole Bros.-Clyde Beatty Circus, which returned from a five year European tour last year will exhibit in Chicago Stadium April 11th to May 3rd inclusive.

The No. 1 advertising car, the first of three in advance of the Colossus of all amusements, is now in this vicinity. Billposters, banners, lithographers, radio men and press agents are heralding the great event, and soon everyone will be planning for a gala visit to the world's largest "big top," the center of the biggest canvas city ever assembled to thrill, entertain and amuse a great and discriminating populace.

Traveling on three trains of double-length steel railroad cars, the giant of super-circuses will bring 10,900 people, 812 menagerie animals, 30 elephants and 500 horses.

The Pre-eminent feature is Clyde Beatty's trained wild animal exhibition. Beatty is acknowledged to be the greatest wild animal trainer of all time.

There are 400 performers including the famous Davenport family of riders; the Imperial Harolds aerialists; the Flying Thrillers; Harold Barnes, dancing, tumbling, somersaulting acrobat of the tight wire, and 60 internationally celebrated and beloved clowns. The Cole Bros.-Clyde Beatty horse fair has become a feature amazing in its appeal throughout the North American continent.

The big holiday will be ushered in with an immense street parade at 11 a. m. Upwards of 500 horses, three score of elaborately carved and gilded allegorical floats and tableau wagons together with many cages and open dens of Clyde Beatty's animals will be seen in the procession. There will be five herds of elephants and two caravans of camels from the great desert. Five bands and two steam calliopes will furnish music. Doors to the menagerie open at 1 and 7 p. m. The big show will start at 2 and 8 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Batterman Celebrate Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary

Echoes of fifty years ago were heard at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Batterman of Palatine Sunday afternoon, April 5, when relatives and a few intimate friends helped this couple celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. It was just fifty years ago to a day that early one morning, a blushing young maiden Caroline Gieseke took the seven o'clock train to Chicago. Upon a train an hour earlier a nervous young man had preceded her so that none of the Palatine folks would guess that it was to be their wedding day. However their parents knew of their intentions and found a warm welcome for Mr. and Mrs. Henry Batterman when they returned home that evening.

Since that time, all, except the first five years have been spent in their present home which was originally built for their occupancy. Mr. Batterman until a few years ago when he retired was engaged in the operation of a flour mill, coal and lumber yard and feed grinding. Mr. Batterman, who was born in Chicago 74 years ago and his wife in Hanover, Germany, 3 years later. They have two children, Edward and Mrs. Delia Krueger and a son in law, Walter Krueger, who all reside in Palatine.

The afternoon and evening last Sunday was happily spent. A number of piano selections were given by Dr. Abelman and Miss Pearl Black during the afternoon. The supper was served at six o'clock, at which Wm. Abelman, Jr., gave a toast and Mr. Hake spoke in German. During the evening interesting moving pictures of California as well as Palatine were given by Wm. Abelman.

Many gifts were received by Mr. and Mrs. Batterman and they were also remembered by other friends with cards and flowers as well as expression of congratulations, for which this couple express their appreciation.

Those present were Dr. and Mrs. Abelman and family, Mr. and Mrs. G. Hake and daughters, Helen and Louise, Miss Louise Abelman, Mrs. Wm. Hieber, Mrs. Emma Black and daughter, Pearl of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Abelman and son, Wm. of Elgin, Miss Clara Dornier of Crest, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Wentz, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Krueger of Palatine and Rev. and Mrs. Voeck, who spoke a few fitting words and prayer.

Concordia Society Honor President Eighteen members of the Concordia society gathered at the home of Mrs. Chas. Wentz on Thursday in honor of Mrs. Batterman, who had been their president four years. She was presented with a gold vase and a poem of golden wishes and prayer. A wedding luncheon table.

On Thursday, April 9, we observed past officers night, with Sister Jennie Carlson, P. M., and Brother Nathaniel Carlson, P. P., in the East. They were escorted by the officers of last year, and presented with gifts. The soloist, Gladys Baskin, greeted them in song.

The other officers serving with them are all past officers, Carla Ehret, associate matron; Nelson Hauff, associate patron; Georgiana Pankonin, conductress; Alim a Tesch, associate conductress; Elmer Laurin, treasurer; Geo. Volz, secretary; Celia Hausan, G. L., as chaplain; William Muller, marshal; Mary Meyer, Adah; Lillie Jahn, Ruth; Mae Muller, Esther; Mae Belle Jasper, Martha; Sophie Wilson, G. L., Electa; Richard Jahn, warden and Charles Pankonin, sentinel; Helen Jackson, organist.

We were very proud of our past officers, and their work on this evening.

Both Sister Jennie and Brother Nat, thanked the chapter for setting aside this evening for them.

After the meeting, delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Roderick and her committee.

Mrs. Alice H. Fosha Passes From Life On Earth

The Easter time was saddened by the sudden illness and death of Mrs. H. A. Kossack's mother, who died in the Presbyterian hospital Easter morning.

Since the death of her husband last June, the lonely mother had spent her time in the homes of her two daughters, Mrs. Kossack of Arlington Heights and Mrs. Paul Miller of Chicago. Mrs. Fosha had been with Mrs. Kossack some time and the past few days had expressed a longing to go to her own home in German Valley. About one week before her death, she was suddenly ill and expressed a wish to go to the home of her son-in-law, Dr. Paul Miller, for help. She was taken to the city and Dr. Miller, after calling counsel, had her removed to the Presbyterian hospital where she passed away early Easter morning, the fulfillment of her lonely heart wish to go home.

All that tender care of her daughters could bestow, could not hold her to linger.

Alice Harberts was married to Mr. Fosha and to them were given four children, two died early. She leaves her two daughters and three grandchildren and two sons-in-law.

Wednesday this week the funeral took place in her home at German Valley. The burial by the side of her husband.

Several friends of the Kossacks went from Arlington Heights to be present, representing the Presbyterian church here, where Dr. Kossack has been pastor for ten years. We are sure a host of his friends and parishioners here extend sincere sympathy to those who mourn. May the Easter message comfort them. "He is not here—He has risen."

William A. Rossiter to Lead La Salle Group

Arlington Heights has been chosen by La Salle Extension University as one of the towns of this state for the organization of a special group of high school graduates to take a university business training course that fits the members of the group for definite jobs.

This group will be under the leadership of Mr. William A. Rossiter, commercial teacher at the high school, who will meet the group once every two weeks in the evening for open-forum discussion of the problems of the training. The training program is primarily complete in Practical Higher Accounting and Office Organization and Management. On finishing this course the members receive full placement service from La Salle Extension University.

This special group is open to high school graduates and others who can qualify in Arlington Heights and surrounding towns and territory. The group is now being organized by Harrison McJohnston and F.
